FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How Four Clever Monkeys Outwitted a Hive of Bees.

Four monkeys sat under a tree in an Indian forest. One monkey was seen to busy himself in smearing one of the others with red clay earth. When he had succeeded in entirely covering his companion the three disappeared, leaving the other a mass of clay but for two small holes, through which peered a pair of cunning eyes. Then the be-daubed monkey was seen to climb to the hollow of a tree where there was a beehive. The bees buzzed about the intruder, but all they could do was to leave their sting in his clay coat. At last they swarmed away in despair, and the clever monkey helped himself to the honeycomb. And then the other monkeys came out of their hiding place and proceeded to pick off the clay covering from their brother. This done they set to work at the honeycomb and finished it to the satisfaction of all four.

In Doubt.

Many persons, old as well as young, are often in doubt as to the use of "in" or "at" before the name of a city, a town or an institution. The following illustrations will show how they are used by the best writers: In is used before the names of countries and of large cities; as, "He lives in America." "He has a house in Chicago." At is used before the names of houses, institutions and small towns; as, "Duties are received at the custom house." If a city is regarded merely as a locality, it is customary to use at before the name; as, "He was crowned at Paris."—Chicago News.

Hidden Insects.

In each of the following sentences the name of an insect is concealed:

1. Several of the magnates of the town were present.
2. That beet left a stain on the cloth.
3. In those days for this malady bumble weed was the usual remedy.
4. Nan tore her frock in getting over the fence.
5. At Lake Como there were more of our friends.
6. To be early for school every morning requires some effort.

Answer—1. Gnat. 2. Beetle. 3. Ladybug. 4. Ant. 5. Moth. 6. Bee. Find them.

Conundrums.

Why is "o" the noisiest of all the vowels? Because you can't make a horrid, loud noise without it, while all the others are inaudible.

Why can you never expect a fish-monger to be generous? Because his business makes him sell fish.

Why would an owl be offended at your calling him a pheasant? Because you would be making game of him.

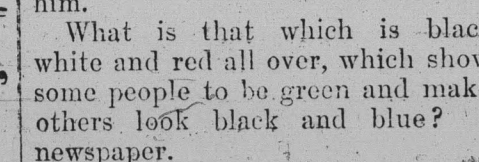

What is that which is black, white and red all over, which shows some people to be green and makes others look black and blue? A newspaper.

Board and Ball Trick.

Get the cover of a cigar box or any other thin board about five inches long and cut two small holes in it. Then arrange the strings and balls shown in the diagram.

The trick is how to get the large ball off the string without untying it or removing any of the smaller balls.

Push the ball close up to the right hand hole and pull the right loop of the string as far toward the left hand hole as it will come. Then pass the loop through the hole and over the left ball, as indicated in the second diagram. This will cause the two loops to separate, and then the ball will come off with ease.

Reversing the operation, you can easily put the ball back into its original position.—Columbus Dispatch.

A Church for Children Only.

The Rev. Henry A. King of the Oakley Avenue M. E. church, Kansas City, proposes to start a church for children only. He wishes them to take the part of the official board, the organizers, the ushers and the congregation.

Politeness to Foreigners.

From Europe, Asia and Africa, From North and South America, These names of places come to me To teach me my geography.

And so it's no more than polite To put my playthings out of sight And for a moment give my mind To visitors who are so kind.

A Double Chin.

To reduce a double chin anoint it with a good skin food; then, picking up the flesh between the thumb and first finger, roll it firmly, but gently. Sponge the chin afterward with cold salt water.

In Case of Burns.

Keep a bottle of linseed oil and limewater, together with a roll of absorbent cotton and pieces and strips of old linen for bandages, all in a convenient place to use in case of burns.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

The Right Way to Proceed in Washing Delicate China.

A big wooden bowl filled with warm, not boiling, soapsuds, to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added, should be prepared and each piece of china washed separately in this, using a square of old flannel for plain plates, etc., and a soft brush (a painter's brush is best) for elaborately ornamental articles.

Rinse in another wooden bowl of clean warm water and dry with linen cloths. Bronze ornaments may be washed in the same way, but should be finally polished with a chamois leather. Some people consider a rub with a rag on which there is the least suspicion of paraffin gives bronze a nice appearance. Glass should be washed in warm water that has a little ammonia in it, but no soap, and then rinsed in quite cold water. Cut glass should be washed with a brush, or if elaborately cut and very dirty it is rather a good plan not to wash it at all, but brush a paste of whiting and water well into it, allowing it to dry on thoroughly, then removing it with a clean brush and finally polishing with an old silk handkerchief.

To Retain Color in Cotton Goods.

Delicate shades of cotton fabrics, blues, pinks, lavenders, etc., can be laundered and still be as pretty as new if they are treated as follows: Drop one teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine into one-half gallon of cold water, wet the goods thoroughly in this, wring dry and hang in the shade. When thoroughly dry they can be laundered. There is no odor left from the use of the turpentine. This method has been tested time and again and always with perfect results.—Housekeeper.

What Foods Weigh.

It may be convenient to know that one quart of flour weighs one pound; a quart of cornmeal, one pound; and two ounces; a quart of sugar, one pound; a quart of powdered white sugar, one pound and one ounce; a quart of best brown sugar, one pound and two ounces; that ten eggs weigh one pound, though this depends somewhat on the size; sixteen large table-spoonfuls make half a pint; a quart of butter, one pound and one ounce.

To Wash Chamois Leather.

Make a weak solution of soap and warm water. Rub plenty of soft soap into the leather and let it soak for two hours, then rub it till quite clean. Afterward rinse it well in a weak solution of warm water, soda and yellow soap. After rinsing wring it well in a rough towel, dry quickly and pull about till quite soft. It will then be better than most new leathers.

Cranberry Jelly.

Here is a variation of cranberry jelly: Take off the stems and wash half a cupful of raisins and boil them in a cupful and three-quarters of water until the water is reduced to a cupful. Then add a pound of sugar and a quart of cranberries and boil fifteen minutes. Strain out the skins and seeds and turn into a mold.

A Good Cement.

For mending hard substances like metal or glass there is nothing more satisfactory than melted alum. Simply melt the alum over an intense heat and apply while hot. An ivory handle to a knife which had loosened was mended in this way forty years ago and has been in use ever since without breaking or loosening.

Finger Marks.

Unsightly finger marks are a great annoyance to the tidy housewife and should be removed with a soft flannel wrung out in water in which a few drops of ammonia have been mixed and then rubbed with soap. Having removed the stains, the paint should be washed with clear water and thoroughly dried.

Cure For Chilblains.

Make a soft paste of soap and water. Any good pure soap will do. After bathing the feet in water to which salt has been added put a thick coating of this paste on the affected parts. Moistened frequently and also repeat frequently.

A Double Chin.

To reduce a double chin anoint it with a good skin food; then, picking up the flesh between the thumb and first finger, roll it firmly, but gently. Sponge the chin afterward with cold salt water.

In Case of Burns.

Keep a bottle of linseed oil and limewater, together with a roll of absorbent cotton and pieces and strips of old linen for bandages, all in a convenient place to use in case of burns.

NOT IMPRESSED.

Clark Howell of the Atlanta Constitution enjoys telling how in his early days in the newspaper field he was visited by a Georgia farmer, having his seventeen-year-old son in tow, and who upon entering the office said, "I came to get some information, Mr. Howell." "I shall be glad to afford you any that I can," politely responded Howell. "Well," said the farmer, "this boy o' mine wants to go into the literary business, an' I thought you would know if there was any money in it. It's a good business, ain't it?" "Well, yes," said Howell after some little hesitation. "I've been in it myself for some years, and" whereupon the farmer eyed him from head to foot, glanced around the poorly furnished office, surveyed the editor once more, then, turning to his son, said, "Come 'long home, Jim, an' git back to your plowin'."—Harper's Weekly.

A Brilliant Judge.

A Swiss child, aged three years, has been sentenced at the criminal assizes at Weinfelden, in the canton of Thurgovie, to three and a half months' imprisonment for theft. It appears that the little fellow was passing a toy shop and, seeing some toys dangling in the street, helped himself to two or three articles of little value and took them home. The child was carried into court and in answer to questions frankly said that he took the toys home to play with his little sister, as they had none. To the great astonishment of the court, the presiding judge sentenced the infant to three and a half months' imprisonment. The little fellow was carried out of the court crying and handed over to a prison official. The Swiss press is indignant at the unprecedented action of the judge and condemns the verdict as illegal.

The Electric Cradle.

"The electric cradle is the latest novelty in our line," said a salesman connected with a big electrical supply house. "It's a wonder that it hasn't come before this, for it's the most simple thing imaginable. With an attachment similar to that on an electric fan the rocking of the crib can easily be controlled. As soon as the current is turned on it is rocked with a smooth, soft motion, and by pressing the lever it can be made to go fast or slow. There'll be no more sleepless nights for father. When baby begins to cry he won't have to walk it. He'll just turn over, push the button, and electricity will do the rest."—Philadelphia Record.

A Great Old Lady.

Few people are aware that the Baroness Burdett-Coutts was at one time seriously discussed as a second wife for the great Duke of Wellington. Indeed, Punch had a picture on the subject representing the duke's statue outside Apsley House shaking hands with the duke himself, while underneath the legend ran: "So glad to hear the good news. Don't forget to send me cake and gloves." The baroness is now in her ninety-third year and has lived in five reigns—viz, those of George III. and IV., William IV., Queen Victoria and his present majesty.—London Tit-Bits.

Uncle Sam Can Save $60,000,000.

The United States imports annually about $60,000,000 worth of drugs and dyes made from products that could be grown in the United States just as well. Camphor now sells for 25 cents a pound, and while not an ounce of it is grown in this country, the government has demonstrated that camphor trees are successful here. Licorice root is another thing that possesses great possibilities. The department of agriculture has demonstrated that the licorice plant is hardy as far north as Pennsylvania. Belladonna has also been shown to do well in good garden soil.—Farming.

A Hangman's Watch.

Joseph Lang, the public executioner of Vienna, wears a heavy gold watch chain and a massive watch, which is held securely in his pocket by a thief-proof hook. Both the chain and the hook withstood the attack of a daring pickpocket who endeavored to relieve the hangman of his treasure in a crowded street car of the Austrian capital recently. The thief was captured, and the watch, on which the greivous record of the owner's official activity is engraved, was saved.

The American Collector.

"Historic Bibles in America" is a very remarkable record of American enterprise. Among these Bibles are volumes that belonged to Charles I., George III., Queen Anne, Prince Henry, son of James I.; the Duke of Sussex (ten); and Richard III. Will the crown jewels find their way over there?—London Spectator.

Heaviest Rails.

The rails on the Belt Line road in Philadelphia are the heaviest in the world. They weigh 112 pounds to the yard and are seventeen pounds heavier than any rails ever before used. They are ballasted in concrete, and nine inch girders were used to bind them. All the curves and spurs were made of the same heavy rails, and the tracks are superior to any railroad section ever undertaken. The rails were made especially by the Pennsylvania Steel company for the Pennsylvania railroad. An officer of the Pennsylvania road stated that this section of road would last twenty-five years without repairs.

Argument by Inference.

A Dr. McKee gets off the following in substance in the Medical-Legal Journal: "A certain eminent Chicago doctor was called in as an expert. To show his standing the physician asked him if he was not the physician who attended P. D. Armour, George M. Pullman, Potter Palmer, Marshall Field and several other millionaire Chicagoans. The opposing lawyer took up the case and asked in turn what had become of these different men, calling them, one by one, by name, and the grave answer came to each question, 'He is dead.' 'I believe I have no more questions to ask,' concluded the lawyer."

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy one of Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formula are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are getting and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used, viz., pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being most valuable as a soporific and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heartburn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kidney derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as, for example, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Lysol in its ionic state it will kill all the bacteria which it comes in contact with. In chronic Catarrh of the bladder, urethra, etc., it is well while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, lingering coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not a cure for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure chronic coughs, but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

The Price of Simple Living.

When one has come into his divine right of manhood and desires to become a part of the commonwealth which he calls his own, he either by accident or volition casts his fortune with the town or city. There is little said as to the comparative values of a town or city environment but the kernel of either argument on this question is that part which affects the individual's taste and personal happiness rather than his citizenship or development as a social member. We must concede that the advantages from an intellectual standpoint may be found in the cities. That there the mind will be broadened and the horizon widened and life take on a greater scope. But the nation needs more than this and the endurance of our country lies in the physical as well as the mental prowess of our people depending on the natural, simple life that may only be bred in the country.

The individual himself must solve the problem of city or country life when he consults his own pleasure. It is the exception among us who thinks of himself as a social unit or part of the structural arrangement we have come to call the nation. Each must live his own life in his own way. Some follow in the path outlined for them by their antecedents, others blaze new trails widely divergent from the old lines. Selfish interest is usually the determining factor.

The city man is nobody and everybody, the country man is somebody and nobody. The paradox is easily explained, incongruous as it seems. In large cities where congregate the millionaire, the genius and the famed, a man must measure to high standards. He is unheard of unless he rises above a very high mark in whatever avenue it may be. A few thousand dollars does not make him a rich citizen, a little business does not make him a leading light, a thirty-dollar suit does not make him the best dressed man in town. He is nobody much, for any or all these things, and yet he may be of obscure or even doubtful origin, works for fifteen a week, live in a little back room, yet appearing aristocratic and prosperous and he is somebody for all that big city cares. There are few there who have the time to look him up. Even his next door neighbor prefers to think of him as just somebody. How different in the country! There in the happy land of limitations one may be considered rich with a few thousand dollars, an influential citizen, with a little store, a swell in a thirty-dollar suit. Let this one go to the city and he will be disappointed at the figure he fails to put. Let the city individual come to the country and he will repudiate the familiarity which he encounters. If he wishes to smoke a five-cent cigar and pose as if he were indulging in an imported weed he does not wish the whole town to know it, any more than his wife cares to have the whole community know that her dress cost but fifteen cents a yard. But the small town knows all these things. They are talked about and resented. Pose as you will in the city you cannot be artificial in your manner of living; in the country Mrs. Grundy has nothing else to do but to find you out.

The public censorship, this gattling gun of public opinion which fires at close range in the little town, makes staunch, well disciplined citizens. He is a courageous man who endures it, for the simple life is very complex in the being and one plays the piper for the joy he gleans from the hills and streams and shadows in the country just as he must for the glittering inducements of the city.

It is a different price per chance but it is safe to venture that there are more pangs and heartaches engendered from country gossip and criticism than from any other source. On the other hand there is more real sympathy and neighborly interest in the latter, and nature's beauties compensate and so the choice is made and we of the country love it despite its ways and would not exchange it for all the gold, unsympathetic cities of the world.

DAVID STARR JORDAN has the spot light on him through his Japanese utterances and it hurts his eyes. It is almost as hard to be born a university president as a rough rider.

A Habit to Be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives herself a great amount of usefulness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security.

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES. Result of 15 years experience in the making. No danger from THORNS, CACTUS, PINS, NAILS, TACKS or GLASS. Serious punctures, like intentional knife cuts, can be vulcanized like any other tire.

Two Hundred Thousand pairs now in actual use. Over Seventy-five Thousand pairs sold last year.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous, and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been punctured once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. That "holding back" sensation commonly felt when riding on a spoked or soft rubber tire is overcome by the unique "lock-and-wave" tread which prevents all air from being squeezed out between the tire and the road thus overcoming all vibration. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair. All orders shipped as soon as they are received. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair. From a given amount of wood the WILSON HEATER with the Hot Blast Down-Draft will produce twice as much heat as any other. It is because the Down-Draft consumes all the fuel and the gases which arise from it, whereas in other heaters the gases, which constitute one-half the burnable part of the fuel, escape unburned up the chimney. You can start a fire in ten minutes and hold it for 36 hours.

Remember, it is fuel cost which counts. The Wilson saves one-half your fuel bill.

A Pugnacious Cop.

According to the Examiner of Monday Policeman Thos. Wren, who was recently charged with clubbing a man in a saloon in San Francisco and handcuffing him to a bar, is again in trouble. He is charged with an assault upon M. Bettencourt, who is lieutenant of the guard at the Eldridge Home of the Feeble Minded. He was drinking with a friend from Sonoma county and Wren, who was on duty, joined them. Bettencourt says they drank for nearly three hours and when he started to go Wren, who was drunk, brandished his club at him and tore his coat nearly off his back.

Bettencourt went to the Bush street police station and told his story and also claimed that his watch and a part of his chain had been stolen. He thinks Wren stole them. Wren was up before the Police Commissioners last week on another charge but his case was postponed.

YOU CAN SHOOT ROBINS IF YOU WILL

District Attorney Holds That the Law Does Not Protect Them.

Recently a number of hunters have been arrested and fined for killing robins under the mistaken apprehension that they were a protected bird. Only a week ago a fine of $40 was imposed on four hunters by Judge Small of this place, against whom complaints had been lodged by Deputy Sheriff Ryan for killing game illegally. There has been a question in the minds of many sportsmen in regard to the robin being a protected bird and through County Game Warden Ingalls an opinion was secured from District Attorney Lea last Monday to the effect that prosecution cannot follow the killing of robins. Following is the law to back up his opinion:

637a. Every person who, in the State of California, shall at any time, hunt, shoot, shoot at, pursue, take, kill, or destroy, buy, sell, give away, or have in his possession, except upon a written permit from the Board of Fish Commissioners of the State of California, for the purpose of propagation or for education or scientific purposes, any meadow lark, or any wild bird, living or dead, or any part of any dead wild bird, or who shall rob the nest or take, sell or offer for sale, or destroy the eggs of any meadow lark or any wild bird, is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the killing of a meadow lark or other wild bird by the owner or tenant of any premises where such bird is found destroying berries, fruit or crops growing on such premises, but the birds so killed shall not be shipped or sold. The English sparrow, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, duck hawk, great horned owl, bluejay, house finch (known also as the California linnet), and all birds otherwise protected by the provisions of this code, and those birds commonly known as game birds, are not included among the birds protected by this section. (Approved March 19, 1905.)

Sons of Vulcan Adopt New Schedule of Charges.

Messrs. J. H. Murray, Julius Fochetti, Wm Rambo and Fred Poulson, our local blacksmiths and wagon makers, attended a meeting of their craftsman at Santa Rosa last Monday evening. Every town and hamlet in Sonoma county was represented. The object of the meeting was to adopt a new schedule of prices for horseshoeing and general blacksmithing and wagon making. This was done under the new schedule of charges, which goes into effect February 15th. Horseshoeing has been advanced from $1.50 to $2, and other work in proportion.

THE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Annual Convention to Take Place Next Week at Bakersfield.

The coming convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs of California to be held at Bakersfield on February 6, 7 and 8, promises to be one of unusual interest, judging from that portion of the program which has already been determined upon. The completion of the full program, which is in charge of Mrs. J. B. Hume of Berkeley, will still be the work of some days, but the number of eminent speakers and thinkers definitely secured, and the popular subjects that will be presented by them give assurance that the Bakersfield gathering will be a notable one in the history of the Federation.

Among those who will address the meetings are Prof. F. B. Dunbar, Ph. D., head of the pedagogical department at Berkeley; Col. John P. Irish, whose subject will be "What Fremont Found in California"; C. P. Neilson of Los Angeles, and M. W. Almont Gates, secretary of the state board of charities, who will speak on the "Child of the Streets." Mrs. W. N. Sherman of Fresno, a lecturer under the University Extension Work, will discuss "The Business of Housekeeping," and the subject of Forestry is to be presented by Forest Supervisor C. H. Shinn and State Forester G. B. Lull.

W. L. George, the founder of the George Jr. Republic, will address the gathering on the work he has conducted with such marked success, and Garnet Holme, a talented Englishman, will lecture on "Stratford on Avon," the lecture to be illustrated with stereoscopic slides. These and other speakers yet to be announced are a guarantee that each session of the convention will be full of interest for the assemblage.

Locally, details for the convention are being worked out by the Bakersfield Woman's Club, and delegates and visitors are assured of a hearty welcome and a pleasurable stay in the oil metropolis.

The vision of a ghost created great excitement here last Saturday night at the hour when graveyards are supposed to yawn and hobgoblins are stalking abroad.

"King John," a monarch of the hobo tribe of nomads, who has been hanging around here the past week to keep out of the rain, is a firm believer in ghosts. The knowledge of this becoming known to a number of local ways they put up a job on the hobo the other night and an effort made to frighten him. Robed in a white sheet one of the boys lay in wait for the ghost-believer on Riverside avenue. A well known young man of this town, who was returning from a visit to Sonoma, however, became a victim of the practical jokes and was nearly frightened out of his wits. Seeing the ghost-like figure hovering under the shadows of the trees along side of the road, he took to his heels and with blanched face and hair standing on end soon made his appearance in town and narrated his experience. The young man swears by all that is holy that it was a real live ghost while King John, who has the laugh on him, backs him up in his opinion.

IN MEMORIAM.

A pure hearted, great and good man has "gone over the divide."

In the passing away of Joel M. Zane of near Glen Ellen, the community has lost an honored member, whose influence for good will be felt for many years.

"He who doeth all things well" for his own wise purpose has taken him to himself. The sad news must have been borne upon the wind—even to the bay cities. Owing to his sudden and unexpected departure from this life due notice could not be given, yet many friends came for miles and gathered together at his old home to perform the last sad rites to their beloved friend.

There are many read of in the world's history who have been called "great." There has been great generals who have directed the killing of thousands in a scientific manner; there has been great lawyers who have aided to pass wise laws, and who have given their best talents and energies to break them for their clients had purposes; there has been great Presidents who have acted with great wisdom in many ways, yet have aided to bring the curse of war and other wrongs on this fair land. Many have been called great but true greatness consists in doing good to others, "In so living, that others seeing their good works may act accordingly." "By their works ye shall know them." In doing good and in the nobility of his character, his gentleness, kindness the departed has been truly great.

There was no pomp or great ceremony over the departed but the beautiful rendering of the sacred office of the dead, with appropriate selections from the scripture relating to death and the future life of the soul, then came a chant of many voices followed by a clear, sweet solo singing Jerusalem. The beautiful words found many an echo in the hearts of those present. Then came the long line of mourners, moving slowly along by the silent casket to gaze upon the calm peaceful face, on which there yet dwelt a smile. Tears uprisen stole down the sun-browned cheeks of dear old friends, a last tribute of their affection for him, and in acknowledgment of a life well spent, a noble life of continued self sacrifice, and one could almost realize that He that giveth all good was saying "well done." Then followed the benediction. The soul had gone to him who gave it.

There were those present at the funeral services with whom his departure will be an inspiration and will do good. They will think—I too must go the same unknown road—and will ask themselves have I done as well in all things as has the departed? Will He say "well done good and faithful servant?" This will inspire them to right wrongs done in the past and act more justly in the future.

Mr. Zane came from a race whose courage and enterprise helped to build up the great west till there was no west, the confines of the ocean undid it. They it was with others who gave to Horace Greeley the words: "Go West." They had made a west before he was born. Mr. Zane came to California in the pioneer days before he had reached his majority. He created a home, with the aid of his dear, noble-hearted wife; there they raised up children to true manhood and womanhood, honored and respected by all, and they too will aid in bringing many blessings to others by their good and worthy examples. Many a hard struggle he and his loving wife had to keep their home and raise their family, but they bravely did as their parents did before them, with true grit met all difficulties and bravely conquered them. Mr. Zane was noted for his goodness of heart—his justice—and when neighbors quarreled he would try to settle their disputes instead of citing them to appear before him for trial. His wife was a true and loving helpmate well fitted to aid and sustain him in all their trials, and like the Roman matron of old when asked "where are your jewels?" she could take her children by the hand and say: "These are my jewels."

After the funeral ceremony at the home the remains were escorted to Glen Ellen by a long line of sorrowing relatives and friends and taken to the Oakland crematory, as he had expressed this approval and desire of this method of the disposal of his mortal remains.

"There is no death," and angel form walks o'er the earth with silent tread, He hears our best loved things away, And then we call them "dead."

Requester in pace, A tribute from an old friend and an old son.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

How a Famous Composition Came to Be Written.

The story of how one of Paderewski's most popular compositions came to be written was told recently in London by the famous composer's wife.

It was in those early days when the master pianist was a professor at the Warsaw conservatory, and the scene was the home of the Polish poet, Swietochowski, who had just expressed the opinion that no living composer could compare in beauty and simplicity with Mozart. At the moment Ignace Paderewski merely shrugged his shoulders. But the following evening he appeared, asking permission to play for the poet a little Mozartian thing which perhaps he did not know. When he played his own famous minuet.

"Ah!" exclaimed Swietochowski triumphantly as the last note died away. "Now you must acknowledge that a composition like that could not have been written in our time."

"Perhaps," came the quiet reply, "only it happens that I composed it this very forenoon." — Lippincott's Magazine.

Her Awful Sin.

"Sometimes," she whispered as she nudged a little closer to him, "I am almost afraid that I am not worthy of you."

"Why, darling," he asked, "should you ever have such a thought as that?"

"Well, I—I once almost made up my mind to have my hair bleached."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

Properly Amended.

"Tommy," cried his father, "you must go to bed this instant!"

"No!" replied five-year-old Tommy.

"What's that? How dare you say 'No' to me?"

"Excuse me, 'No, sir,'" said Tommy, with undiminished determination. —Detroit Free Press.

The Limit.

The Professor's Wife — Good heavens! If that astounded husband of mine hasn't sent the cook a new fur boa and given me notice to leave on the first of the month! —Fliegende Blätter.

The Knowledge That Hurts.

Towne—So Dumley married a college woman. My, it must be deep for him to be tied to a woman who knows so much that he doesn't know!

Brown—Oh, that doesn't hurt him so much as the fact that she knows how much he doesn't know. —Philadelphia Press.

The Usefulness of Poets.

"Do you care for great poets?" asked the literary young man.

"Well," answered the truthful girl, "I can't say I care much for the things they wrote themselves. But their sufferings and privations certainly make living biographies."

—Washington Star.

'Twas Ever Thus.

Mistress—I suppose you know all about pastry?

New Cook—Yes, ma'am.

Mistress—What kind of pies are you most familiar with?

New Cook—Bakers' pies, ma'am. —Chicago News.

No Harm Done.

Green—Houder looks happy since his marriage.

Brown—Yes. His wife married him to reform him.

Green—And she has succeeded?

Brown—Oh, no; she failed. —Detroit Tribune.

Just a Hint.

Micky—Would yer want to have a close fellow for a bean, Lizzie?

Lizzie—Well, that depends. I wouldn't mind him being close on the paper sofa, but I wouldn't want him to be close in an ice cream parlor. —Puck.

The Astoria Distinction.

Miss Sue Brett—Do you use the term railroad or railway?

Footie Light—Well, when I'm going out on the cars I say railway. When I'm walking back home I call it railroad. —Yonkers Statesman.

Alpine Ascents.

Alpine guides have reaped the past season the richest harvest of the last twenty-five years. One veteran declares that the peaks have been "crowded like railway stations" all through the summer. The ridiculous idea that climbing accidents had been unusually frequent this year. Over a million tourists, he points out, ascend every year peaks of 3,000 feet and more, while the average number of serious accidents is not more than 100.—London Mail.

Turks in Byron's Place.

Europe has completely deserted Philhellenism. There is no longer a Byron to sing the Hellenic virtues, to fight for Greek independence and to die miserably at Missolonghi. Philhellenism has found a last refuge among the military and political chiefs of the sultan. —Courier of Sophia.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cure have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack.

For sale by L. S. Simmons.

A Lesson in Etiquette.

Priscilla had, unknown to her mother, paid a visit to one of her small friends, and on her return Mrs. Parsons was disturbed to note the soiled dress her child wore.

"Priscilla, do you see that big spot?" What do you suppose Mrs. Blakeslee thought of such a dirty dress?" she asked.

"I don't know," was Priscilla's prompt reply. "If Mrs. Blakeslee saw it she was too polite to mention it." —Harper's Weekly.

Why should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless, don't experiment on him, and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, greatest known worm medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin, puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla., writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing and well."

Swallowed Her Booty.

Paris has a new brand of thief. A man who had had supper by himself in a cafe at a table next to a pretty woman called for his bill and put down a French sovereign. "Do let me bite it," cried the lady; "it brings luck." The man had no objection. A gold Louis bitten by a fair lady would certainly not lose in value. She bit, then gulped and screamed: "A million pardons! I have swallowed it!" The man had, it seems, come across the auriferous species of lady before and instead of letting her and the sovereign go he ungallantly called in the police. They all went to the station, where the inspector passed sentence of ipsecaunha. The lady evidently feeds on gold, for three sovereigns were recovered. The rightful owner of two of them is unknown.

Du Maurier Heroines.

When Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was first presented to Du Maurier, who was, in point of fact, rather an undersized man, she exclaimed:

"Oh, I am so glad that you are not six feet tall!"

"But why?" asked Du Maurier.

"Because for these many months," replied Mrs. Burnett, who is considerably below the medium height, "you have simply denied us the right to live. You have made us feel that a woman who is not six feet tall has not the right to exist."

"Oh, that is only a trick of mine!" laughed Du Maurier. "I have started again and again to make my heroine a little woman, but before I know it she has somehow grown way beyond my own recognition."

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, but on a piece of damped slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow.

Carrio Nation

certainly smashed a hole in the bar room of Kansas, but Ballard's Horehound Syrup has snatched all records as a cure for coughs, bronchitis, influenza and all pulmonary diseases. T. C. H., Horton, Kansas, writes: "I have never found a medicine that could cure a cough so quickly as Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it for years."

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At the time of the grip, thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered.

A Jamaica Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Carl Service at Kingston, Jamaica, West India Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her home.

The Joy

of living is to have good health. Use Herbine and you will have bushels of joy. You need not be blue, fedal and have that bad taste in your mouth. Try a bottle of Herbine, a positive cure for all liver complaints. E. Harell, Austin, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for over a year and find it a fine regulator. I gladly recommend it as a fine medicine for dyspepsia." For sale by L. S. Simmons, druggist.
